Summaries: Top 50 Best Sellers

From the previous tables that show the data of the Top 50 books each year, We can see a trend of increasing number of reviews. This indicates the relevancy of the title and likely external influence and interest. For example, the Hunger Game series first released in 2008 with a rise with the most reviews in 2010-2011 is likely due to anticipation to the upcoming release of the movie adaptation in 2012

The changing titles within the top 50 is also likely due to the increase variety of audiences/readers as proven by the trend in reviews.

Furthermore, titles that appear more than once in the top 50 e.g. 2014 number 2 and 3 'The Fault in Our Stars' have different price points suggesting different versions or editions (probably paper cover or hard cover)
